

Training Registration Now Open!

SIDS TRAINING OPPORTUNITY

Billings, Montana – April 29, 2009

The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development is sponsoring a one-day train-the-trainer session. This session will assist local health education providers with skills needed to effectively communicate SIDS risk-reduction messages to families. Attendees will receive resources such as the Healthy Native Babies Workbook and CDROM Tool-Kit that include educational templates with photos and phrases from varied Northern Tier Tribes, message reinforcement activity models, and community promotion guidance using the key points of SIDS risk-reduction messaging.

Who Should Attend: All those working in the areas of public health, health education or promotion, injury prevention, maternal child health, child care or child service, or other programs that reach large numbers of Native families with infants. This training is specifically geared towards people serving American Indian/Alaska Native families in the Billings IHS Area.

Training Location and Registration

4 ways to register:

- Online at <http://healthynativebabies.org/>
- By email at mmitchell@namsinc.org
- By fax at (571) 323-2102
- By phone at (888) 996-9916

Registration Deadline:
March 26, 2009

Training Location:

Holiday Inn – The Grand Montana
5500 Midland Road
Billings, Montana
Phone: (406) 248-7701
Fax: (406) 248-8954

Training is free!

Only 30 trainees will be registered for this training.
Registration will be on a first come first serve basis!